Crowd Turns Out against ICC

by James Giese

Nearly 200 people joined the Greenbelt City Council and a small group of Greenbelt citizens in opposition to the construction of the Intercounty Connector at a public hearing held at Eleanor Roosevelt High School auditorium on June 3. The hearing was one of four scheduled by the Maryland State Highway Administration (SHA) to receive citizen comments on the proposed super-highway to run from I-370 in Gaithersburg to I-95 and US 1 south of Laurel and the recently released Draft Environmental Impact Statement/Major Investment Study Overview (DEIS).

Listening to the testimony were Neil Pedersen, director of Planning and Preliminary Engineering of the SHA and Paul Wettlaufer, Baltimore District Office of the U. S. Corps of Engineers. Although many in the auditorium did not choose to speak, they made their feelings known in a variety of ways—and those feelings mostly were against the construction of the ICC or any other roads. They waved signs saying such things as "Stop the ICC." They held a pre-hearing rally. They put up displays at the school's entrance and outside the auditorium. They distributed flyers and pamphlets. They participated in a skit put on during the time of three of the speakers. And most of all, they loudly applauded and cheered those who did speak in opposition.

Maloney Leads Off

After short presentations by a number of people connected with the study, the hearing began with three minute presentations first allowed to elected officials. Only one county councilmember, Walter H. Maloney of the first district, and members of the Greenbelt City Council spoke. Maloney led off with a blistering, crowd pleasing attack that endorsed the no-build alternative and denounced "as emphatically as I can" all the other alternatives. Noting that he had fought the ICC at earlier hearings, he asked the highway officials present, "If you've already made up your mind, what is this hearing all about?" Claiming that real estate developers will get a tax-funded bonanza if the ICC is built, he argued that the Maryland Department of Transportation was not solving traffic problems, but relocating existing ones and that the ICC would permit development in areas presently not suited for development.

City's Statement

Greenbelt Mayor Antoinette Bram spoke next. She noted the city's long-standing opposition to the ICC, which she said contravenes the 1963 Wedges and Corridors Plan of the Council of Governments. She argued that the highway would serve a very limited number of citizens while having severe environmental impacts, opening up designated low-density areas for development and placing additional financial burdens on the state at a time of fiscal constraint. Noting how the road would tie into the proposed extension of Kenilworth Ave., Bram said that the result would be a huge adverse impact upon Greenbelt and a 72% increase in traffic on Kenilworth or 250,000 automobiles a day.

Dead Fish

The audiences attention was drawn to Greenbelt Councilmember Judith Davis when she stood before the hearing panel with arm raised like the Statue of Liberty, but holding instead of a flame a stuffed fish. "This is a trout," she proclaimed. "A brown trout like those found in the Paint Branch stream system. Find a trout, says a fisherman, and you find a clean, healthy viable stream. Build too many highways and houses near this stream and the run-off and sediment kills it" along with other living things. Davis contended that the fish represents the quality of life that will be lost if the ICC is built. Noting recent efforts to promote "smart growth," Davis called the ICC a "dumb way" to accomplish the growth. To a developer, however, she felt it would be considered smart growth to build next to a new highway. "Within a few years, the ICC and its intersections will be just as clogged as the areas it was meant to relieve." Noting that it would save only three minutes for Green-

Greenbelt Elementary Wins "It's Municipal Government"

In the third annual "It's Municipal Government" contest held during Municipal Government Week, the Greenbelt Elementary School team came out ahead, winning $150.00 for their class among other prizes. In an extremely close contest, the Greenbelt team ended up with 240 points, Springhill Lake Elementary had 230 points and Magnolia followed with 225 points. This contest was created by the City of Greenbelt to teach the students about municipal government. The contest was shown on Greenbelt Municipal Access, which allowed the students to share their knowledge with the viewers.

The teams, arriving at the Greenbelt Community Center decked out in their team shirts provided by Capital T's Deco Wear, were welcomed by Mayor Antoinette Bram. Following a short introduction by host Joe McNeal, they were ready to compete. In the first round, the teams were asked to answer various questions about municipal government. The team captain that raised his/her hand first was given the opportunity to give the team's answer. Five points were awarded for each correct answer.

Outcome Projection

After that round, it appeared the contest would be between Greenbelt and Magnolia Elementary Schools, who pulled away from the Springhill Lake team. Where most would give up, Springhill Lake came back with a strong showing in the second round and tightened up the standings. The second round consisted of a relay race where teams competed to identify which city departments provided which services, with each correct answer bringing five points.

City Budget Adopted

Council Battles Over Trash Pickup As Two Make Last Ditch Effort

by Diane Oberg

At its May 27 regular meeting, the Greenbelt City Council adopted a $13.8 million dollar budget for the fiscal year that begins July 1. The city property tax will rise by one cent, and for residents receiving city service, trash collection fees will increase by 40 cents per month, and collection will be reduced from the current twice per week to once per week (plus a separate collection for recycling). A new police officer, a police cadet and a building maintenance worker will be hired, and the city manager will receive a $2,500 raise as a result of this action.

The most contentious issue continued to be refuse collection. When council adopts the budget they first approve each change to the city manager's budget proposal, then pass an ordinance adopting the entire budget. Since City Manager Michael McLaughlin had proposed reducing the frequency of collection to once a week beginning July 1, the only refuse related votes council took were on the proposal to raise rates slightly to cover the cost of hiring temporary workers to keep twice a week collection until October 1. Thus Mayor Antoinette Bram and Councilmember Edward Putens, who opposed the reduction in refuse collection frequency, ended up voting against the costs (and offsetting revenues) needed to retain twice weekly collection through the summer. They took this symbolic action rather than vote against the entire budget.

Recycling Truck

Things really got interesting when it came time to approve the purchase of the recycling truck to make the summertime three-crew collection feasible. Everyone agreed the truck was needed; in fact, council unanimously approved adding its purchase to the budget. However, McLaughlin asked for authorization under suspension of the rules to purchase the truck, to ensure that the city could get a good price and have the truck in time for July refuse collections. Suspension of the rules is a procedure that allows council to waive its normal procedures of requiring two meetings to approve a resolution. However, this emergency procedure requires the consent of four councilmembers, instead of the normal three.

Councilmember Edward Putens objected to "the second whereas" of the ordinance: "WHEREAS, in order to provide for the efficient collection of these materials and implement changes to the city's waste collection program adopted by council, staff has recommended the purchase of a spe-

Old Hamilton Graveyard Display Case Dedicated

by Virginia Beauchamp

At a location down a gravel lane from Hamilton Place, a special ceremony was held on Sunday, June 1, as part of the celebration of Greenbelt Day. This was the formal dedication of a display case commemorating the Hamilton family who once had lived and farmed at this site. This area is known well to many Greenbelters who grew up here as youngsters and to some of GHI's avid gardeners, but unfamiliar territory to most residents.

Greenbelt pioneer Mary Linstrom recalled how she and her children used to visit this spot, then a tiny family cemetery surrounded by a picket fence, to bring flowers on Memorial Day. Greenbelt City Councilmember Rodney Roberts, one of the boys who once had romped through these acres, tried to sketch out the boundaries he remembered of the cemetery plot. Overhead on nearby trees were the wooded, ancient vines of a wisteria, marking where a farm family had once thought to add a piece of beauty to their homesite.

All but one of the six people buried in the graveyard had been born in the 18th century, two when Maryland was still a colony. These were Andrew and his wife, Jane, possibly the first settlers on the farm, although a John Hamilton had patented the plantation in 1766, when Andrew was only 13. All six had died before the Civil War.

Over the years the engraved markers have been vandalized and broken. Finally, to preserve them, they had been stored in a protected place. Now to make them again visible to those who would recall the history of this place, a special display case was created and installed at the site, all the markers under glass to protect them from the weather.

Dedication

Present at the dedication were all five members of the Greenbelt

Letters

Thank You, Greenbelt

The Herling Family wishes to thank all our friends and neighbors who provided comfort and support expressed through the many cards, prayers, flowers, food and offers of assistance. The many friends who expressed their condolences and shared in celebrating Albert Herling's life at the Memorial Service last week demonstrated how our wonderful community comes together in both good times and bad. Albert felt a very strong love for his community, and it was wonderful to experience the community's fondness of him.

With great appreciation,
The Herling Family

Thanks

I would like to take this opportunity to thank Cathy Harr for her profile of me in the June 5 issue. We spent a delightful hour on the telephone while she interviewed me. She certainly made me look good.

It is reporters like Ms. Harr that make our News Review so readable and another reason that Greenbelt is the best place anywhere in which to live.

Children Offered Reading Programs

School will be out soon, but students all over the county will still have their heads in books, as the Prince George's County Memorial Library System kicks off two programs this month that will keep kids reading during their summer vacation.

Reading — The Thrill that Lasts a Lifetime is the theme of the annual Summer Reading Club for children ages 6 to 12. Registration begins June 16 at all branches of the Prince George's County Memorial Library System. Children receive a "game board" on which to record reading activities, including specific book titles, over the summer. Prizes will be awarded each week to children who finish the activities on the gameboard.

For teens the Library will sponsor Everyone a Winner, a reading program for ages 12 - 18. Prizes will be awarded to teens who read six books over the summer, and a grand prize drawing will be held at the end of the summer. Both reading programs run through August 16.

For a complete listing of summer programs, visit any branch library or call 301-699-3500.

A Review Turned Wood Exhibit Pleasing to the Eye

by Dennis Jelalian

There is a new exhibit of turned vessels by Phil F. Brown in the gallery at the Greenbelt Library. The twenty three pieces in the exhibit are made of a variety of woods and are turned in a variety of pleasing shapes. Brown's genius is to let the wood speak for itself. He never stains or colors the wood, he simply covers the wood with different clear finishes, each designed to bring out the natural beauty of the different wood grains.

By using a variety of woods, some of them rare, and by varying how he cuts the vessel from the tree, Brown achieves an amazing variety of textures which reveal all the beauty of the wood.

There are several remarkable pieces. Among them are a large low bowl made entirely of grey poplar heartwood; a deep vase that looks like agate or marble, but is made of big leaf maple burl, and a flat platter made of oak cut from a crotch of the tree which gives the finished platter a crazed or flame pattern central streak with straight grain on either side. Perhaps most remarkable of all is a bowl of rare Koa wood from Hawaii which has alternating thin stripes of a rich reddish brown and a golden yellow. The stripes alternate and shimmer as one moves around the bowl creating a dazzling effect.

Brown put three of his pieces on a separate table to be touched and handled, an unusual and generous gesture, much appreciated by visitors.

Brown offers detailed notes on how he creates his works, so that anyone with a wood lathe might try his techniques.

The exhibit runs through June 27. The gallery is open Mon.-Wed., 2-5 p.m. and 6:30-9:00 p.m.; Thurs.-Sat., 2-5 p.m.

Green Ridge House Holds Open House

Green Ridge House residents will hold an open house on Sunday, June 29 from 2 - 4 p.m. to celebrate the 18th anniversary of its founding and the city's 60th anniversary. The program will take place in the dining room.

Green Ridge House is located at 22 Ridge Rd. All are welcome.

Writers Group Holds Open Reading

The Greenbelt Writers group will host its next monthly open reading on Friday, June 20, in the Multipurpose Room of the Community Center. Sign-up will begin at 7:15 p.m. and the reading will begin at 7:30 p.m. Poetry, fiction, personal essays, nature writing, humor, and other creative genres are welcome. Readers of poetry will be limited to five minutes; readers of prose will be limited to ten minutes.

The reading will be followed by refreshments and conversation, after which the group will discuss plans for publishing its next anthology of members' work. All those who attend the reading and are interested in joining the group are welcome to the discussion. For more information, call Robert at 301-474-2809.

Museum Notes

The Greenbelt Museum has hired a new curator. Katie Scott-Childress comes to Greenbelt with museum and other diverse work experience. She holds M.A. in American Studies and M.L.S. degrees, as well as much enthusiasm for Greenbelt's history—past and present.

Outgoing curator Ann Denkler will become history curator at the Museums at Stony Brook in Stony Brook, New York. The Friends of the Greenbelt Museum wish Ann well in her new position.

The Greenbelt Home/ Garden Club to Meet

The Greenbelt Home & Garden Club will meet in Greenbelt Elementary School on Thursday, June 19, where the annual business meeting will be held promptly at 7 p.m. At 7:30 p.m., the club's featured speaker will be LeRoy Wilton of the Smile Herb Shop of College Park. All club members and guests are invited to attend.

GHI NOTES

The Gypsy Moth Study Group will meet on Tuesday, June 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the Board Room.

The Newsletter Committee will meet on Friday, June 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the Board Room.

Festival Notes

Miss Greenbelt Pageant Orientation

An orientation meeting will be held on Tuesday, June 17, at 7:30 p.m. for those interested in learning more about the Miss Greenbelt Scholarship Pageant in the Theater Room (second floor) of the Greenbelt Community Center. At this meeting Pageant Chairs Natasha Jewell and Johanna Smith will cover all the information needed to participate, will describe the Pageant activities and will answer any questions. Parents are encouraged to attend as well. The orientation is for all ages and for those planning or considering the Miss Greenbelt, Junior or Little Miss Pageants. For more information, please call Natasha Jewell at 301-352-8665.

Talent Show

The Greenbelt Labor Day Festival Talent Show is always an entertaining feature of the Labor Day Festival. It showcases new talent and provides an opportunity to see popular performers again. All types of performers are welcome in the annual talent show—singers, dancers, musicians, magicians, acrobats, comedians—groups and solo performers too.

Call now to discuss your act and reserve a place in the show. Contact Dennis Lewis at 301-552-9078.

Activities for Children and Teens

The Labor Day Festival provides a bonanza of activities and opportunities for Greenbelt's children and teens. Many student groups have booths in the Carnival to tell about their activities and causes. The Talent Show gives young performers a chance to test their performances with a real audience. The Recreation Department sponsors a weekend full of sports and games. Saturday's entertainment schedule features performances tailored for a young audience and it's also the time for Kids' Games - a variety of games from the infants' diaper derby to the toddlers' races to the games of skill for older children. Children and teens enter the art and photo shows to display their artistic talents. The Children's Pet Show brings cats, dogs, rabbits, hamsters, kids and more together. The Miss Greenbelt Scholarship Pageant involves girls from 7 to 19. The Festival actively recruits student volunteers and welcomes help in all its events. If interested, come to the next meeting on June 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the Greenbelt Police Department meeting room.

ATTENTION GHI MEMBERS

The 1997 Community Beautification program has finished its final notice inspection phase. Units with final notices will be referred to Fee-For-Service for completion as per the information on the FINAL NOTICE door hanger. However, extensions are still being accepted providing they are in writing with given date and reason for extension request.

Thank you for your cooperation in making this the most successful Beautification Program to date.

Golden Age Club

by Dolores Capotosto
The Wednesday, June 18, meeting of the Golden Age Club will be a celebration of club members' June birthdays. Come and enjoy the party with all the Gemini's and Cancer folks.

Rumor has it that the theme song for GoldenAgers is "Everywhere We Go, Sunshine Follows Us" and even though we didn't have sunshine for the Yard Sale, at least it didn't rain. The money made goes to the "Send-A-Kid-To-Camp" Program (Camp Pine Tree). Thanks to everyone who helped and especially to Bill and Arlene Souser.

Jim Maher and the Travel Committee urge Golden Agers to take advantage of a very inexpensive trip scheduled on Thursday, June 19, to the Franciscan Monastery in N. E. Washington D. C. and to the Oseh Synagogue; to see the artworks alone is worth the cost. On Thursday, July 24, there will be a trip to Smith Island. Also, be sure to turn in a deposit if interested in the Lake George, N. Y. trip scheduled for September 21-25.

Mark Wednesday, June 25, on the calendar as Valerie Siegel, a local attorney, will be the speaker. Her topic will be "Why and When Seniors Might Need an Attorney." President Irv Siegel says that one of the future speakers will be Audrey Scott from the Prince George's County Council.

After attending the meeting at Eleanor Roosevelt High School last week on the Inter-County Connector, the president urges members to read up on this project and make feelings known to the elected officials; seems that most people feel that too many neighborhoods have been destroyed by roads - to say the least.

At the closing of the Golden Age Club meeting on Wednesday, June 4, Rachel Algaze read a very funny article on hypochondria from a recent issue of "The Smithsonian" magazine.

At the Library

Rethinking America by Hedrich Smith will be featured at the Adult Book Discussion Wednesday, June 18, at 2 p.m.

Greenbelt Internet Access Cooperative (GIAC) offers free Internet classes, discussion and demonstrations Wednesday, June 18, at 7 p.m.

For the younger set, P.J. Storytime is also Wednesday, June 18 at 7 p.m. for children ages 4-6.

And Drop In Storytime for ages 3-5 will be Thursday June 19 at 10:15 a.m.

Community Events

Gypsy Moth Study Group to Meet

The Greenbelt Gypsy Moth Study Group will meet at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, June 17, in the Board Room at Greenbelt Homes, Inc. on Hamilton Place. Featured speaker will be Susan Rudy, environmental specialist with National Capital Parks-East, who recently supervised the gypsy moth suppression program using Gypcheck at Greenbelt Park. All interested persons are welcome to attend. For more information call Mark Miller at 301-441-3298.

At its first meeting on May 13, the study group agreed that matters such as aerial spraying of pesticides in residential areas should be the subject of public hearings prior to official approval. On May 15, three members of the group visited the Gypsy Moth Laboratory at the Agricultural Research Station in Beltsville. Scientists there presented their perspectives on current research and alternative methods of Gypsy Moth control. One researcher specializes in appropriate Gypsy Moth control measures for urban areas. In the coming months, the study group plans to hold several informational meetings and assemble a file of relevant scientific materials for a public information depository.

Free Internet Class At Greenbelt Library

Another in the series of free classes about the Internet will be offered on Wednesday, June 18. This series is co-sponsored by the Greenbelt Library and the Greenbelt Internet Access Cooperative. The topic of this class will be "An Introduction to the Internet and the World Wide Web." The class will begin at 7 p.m. Persons with access to the World Wide Web can view an outline of the class by visiting the URL: <http://www.greenbelt.com/matt/classout.htm>

A new feature in this class will be a special projection unit. This unit was first used in the May class. The unit projects computer displays onto a wall screen. This makes it much easier for persons attending the class to see what is being demonstrated on the computer.

Reservations are not required, but are requested when possible. Persons wishing to make reservations are asked to call the class coordinator, Matt Elliott, at 301-345-7783.

Gray Panthers Picnic

The Greenbelt Gray Panthers, families, and friends will greet summer with a pot-luck picnic at Schrom Hills Park, Hanover Parkway, on June 21 between 5 and 7 p.m.

Please bring a special fish, chicken, or meat dish to share with others. Drinks and paper products will be provided. It is requested that those attending bring their own eating sets—although there will be some extra ones.

To report the food item being brought to the picnic or to request information or a ride, call 301-474-6668.

LaLeche Meeting

The LaLeche League of Greenbelt will meet Tuesday, June 17, at 10 a.m. at Greenbelt Maternity Center, 9811 Greenbelt Road, Suite 104. The meeting topic is "Nutrition and Weaning." Pregnant and breastfeeding mothers are invited to attend. Babies are welcome. For more information, please call Gian 301-604-8504.

Give-away Plants

Excess annual plants and tulip bulbs will be given away to city residents on Monday, June 16 at 1 p.m. at the Recycling Center in Attick Park.

Monitor a Stream

Join a Park Ranger in monitoring the quality of one of Greenbelt Park's streams. A natural process of collecting macro-invertebrates and comparing them to the stream quality chart will be used. Wear rubber boots and insect repellent. Meet at the Dogwood nature trail at 11 a.m. on June 21.

Transplant Trees

People who like gardening and working with plants are invited to come out to Greenbelt National Park on June 14 and help a park ranger transplant trees from the rear of the Ranger Station to Park Central Rd. Meet at the Ranger Station at 11 a.m..

Goddard to Hold 17th Model Rocket Contest

Goddard Space Flight Center and Visitor Center will hold its 17th Annual Model Rocket Contest on Sunday June 20 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Model makers of all ages can compete by entering their own rockets. Registration is on the day of the event. There will be prizes in altitude spot landing and parachute spot landing and all rocketeers will receive certificates for participating. For information, call 301-286-3978.

Folk Dance Party

A free International Folk Dance party, with refreshments, will be held in the multipurpose room of the Greenbelt Youth Center on Friday, June 20, from 7:30 to 10 p.m. All are welcome.

No experience or partners are needed, but comfortable dance shoes are a must. This session will introduce newcomers to the classes taught by Roland Forbes. The class will begin again on June 27 for eight non-consecutive weeks. One can register for the class through the Greenbelt Recreation Department. For more information, call the Recreation Department at 301-397-2200.

OBITUARIES

Anthony Pantaleoni

Anthony Pantaleoni of Northway died Thursday, June 5, of pneumonia at Prince George's Hospital. He had lived in Greenbelt since 1988.

Tony was born Nov. 26, 1924 in Mocanaqua, PA. He served overseas in the army during World War II. Later he moved his family to Prince George's County. He worked as a carpenter and then joined WSSC until his retirement. He enjoyed various sports, traveling and nature. He was also active in his church and was a member of the Greenbelt American Legion Post 136.

He is survived by Monica, his wife of 50 years, daughter, Joyce Abell of Greenbelt, and grandson, Shaun Abell. Services were held Saturday June 7, at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Landover Hills, MD.

Robert A. ("Rob") White

On June 7 Robert A. White, 52, passed away at his home on Parkway. He was the son of the late Francis White, former Greenbelt mayor and Prince George's County councilman, and Edna White. He was a lifelong Greenbelt resident.

After thirty years as a public high school teacher and political activist, Mr. White retired from teaching in June 1997. He spent the past 28 years as a history and political science teacher at Parkdale High School, where he won numerous awards, especially for his efforts in the student voter registration program. During his many years as a teacher, Mr. White reached out, inspired and touched countless numbers of students, whom he educated, motivated, encouraged and counseled. Several of his former students are actively involved in political and community affairs, largely because of Mr. White's encouragement and inspiration.

Mr. White is survived by two sisters, Linda, of San Jose, CA, and Sandy, and by his former wife, Linda, of Greenbelt. Burial will be private.

Delegate Hubbard Reception Tuesday

There will be a reception and fund raiser for State Delegate James W. Hubbard on Tuesday, June 17 from 6 to 8 p.m. at Langway's Sports Club, 9430 Annapolis Road, Lanham.

This event is sponsored by Friends for Delegate Hubbard so that Greenbelt voters can meet Hubbard and have a chance to talk with him. Hubbard represents Greenbelt as part of the 23rd Legislative District in the General Assembly in Annapolis.

Ticket information and arrangements for transportation are available by calling 301-464-6326.

St. Hugh's Holds Jubilee Mass

by Dolores Capotosto

St. Hugh's Church was filled to overflowing when James Cardinal Hickey led the celebration at the 50 Year Jubilee Mass on Sun., June 8. Even the weather cooperated.

An Assembly Corps of the Knights of Columbus ushered in the Cardinal and other clergy, as the choir and congregation sang "Glory and Praise to Our God," led by Music Director Martha Von Herman. Greenbelter Michael Burchick, was among the ushers.

The homilist was Rev. Robert Amey, a former St. Hugh's Assistant. Father Amey spoke of Greenbelt's origins and the forming of the parish when Rev. Victor J. Dowgaillo arrived in 1947. Father Dowgaillo was pastor until his death in 1969. Those present, who have been here since the beginning of the parish, were asked to stand. They received a rousing applause. Father Amey ended with heartwarming words about his stay at St. Hugh's Church, and he also received applause.

The Pastor, Rev. Thomas Crowley, welcomed parishioners and guests to the occasion, thanking the Cardinal, and all others who helped make the Mass such a beautiful ceremony. After a special thanks to Liz Whelan, 50th Anniversary Committee chairwoman, and to Patti Dedovitch, History Committee chairperson, he invited all to a reception in Grenoble Hall amidst more applause.

Cardinal Hickey closed the Mass stating well wishes, and his appreciation for St. Hugh's Parish, reminding everyone that all gifts are from God. At the reception, the Cardinal and clergy greeted each and everyone in attendance in a long receiving line.

There was a large display of memorabilia, showing activities of all the groups at St. Hugh's. These will be on display at other events through the year.

Frank, Mike, Bill, and Don Kellaher, sons of the late Gene Kellaher, in the Center after planting a holly tree in memory of their father.

Gene Kellaher Memorial Holly

The late Gene Kellaher, who moved to Greenbelt in 1938 as a pioneer, was commemorated recently by the surviving members of his family with a tree planting. The tree, a holly, was planted beside the Veterans memorial on Centerway - a "perfect" placement they said. This species was chosen because it is green all year.

Mr. Kellaher's heart was in Greenbelt, family members added, and with the veterans and Legionnaires. He also enjoyed Joe's BLTs ("crisp bacon, please").

The tree was donated through contributions by Mr. Kellaher's friends following his death on August 6, 1996, and collected by his friend Donnie Wolfe.

belters who commute to Montgomery County, and that the project would be expensive and destructive, she asked, "Is it really worth it?" Councilmember Rodney Roberts called the ICC a great idea "only if you want to ignore the facts." He contended that the road would wash away all the money spent on river cleanup, do nothing to relieve traffic on the Beltway, cause new sprawl and more traffic. "I don't think it's a great idea," he concluded, "I think it stinks."

Pull the Plug

Equally as acerbic was Councilmember Thomas White who repeated a statement he had once heard, "Planning is too important to leave to the experts." He urged the SHA to "pull the plug" on the ICC, bring in Dr. Kervorkian and "give Neil Pedersen a life." White contended that the planners hadn't focused on the real problem, "our obsession with single-occupancy vehicles and building concrete."

Following the elected officials were a long list of speakers from areas ranging from Upper Marlboro to Gaithersburg, most of whom were in opposition to the ICC. The most unusual testimony came from a group of 15 to 20, identified by Barbara Brown of the Prince George's Journal as members of the Campaign to Stop the ICC and the acting troupe Wild in the Streets. Using the time of three speakers, the group used props such as trees and cardboard autos held about people's waists to show in a humorous but sarcastic way their opposition to the highway and to the people promoting it.

Nine Feet Tall

Miles Drake of Upper Marlboro commented on the complete DEIS being more than nine feet tall and selling for over $1,000 declared that "It's a course that I don't want to take." He felt that there were two principles pushing the project forward—ignorance and corruption. Barbara Sonner Webb, vice-president of the West Laurel Civic Association noted that few failed intersections would be alleviated by the ICC and that only 5,000 commuters would benefit from the savings in travel time between Laurel and Gaithersburg where the greatest travel time savings would occur, according to the DEIS. She declared "I consider this hardly meaningful relief." Lee Epstein, Silver Spring, of the Chesapeake Bay Foundation, declared that the DEIS failed to make a case for the highway and is completely inadequate in assessing environmental impacts.

More Rain?

Daniel Rishkin of Silver Spring, an employee at Goddard Space Center, advised that his research indicates the climate is changing and that heavy rainstorms are occurring with greater frequency and intensity. Any flood will be exacerbated by the existence of the ICC, he contended, and the DEIS does not deal with this. He believes that development is causing the increased rainfall and that the situation will become rapidly worse in the future.

Harry Sanders of the Action Committee for Transit found a six-lane highway to not be justified. He felt the DEIS had a weak financial analysis and provided no justification for the build alternatives. He advocated following a policy set forth in Oregon called "LUTRAQ." This policy combines land use planning with transit availability and air quality. The ICC, he contends, would adversely impact on the redevelopment of Silver Spring.

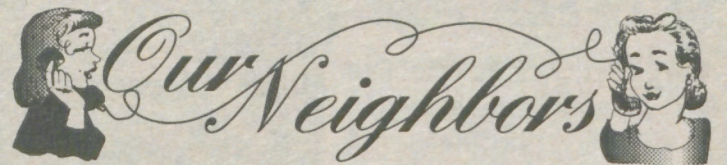

More Taxes

Alan Turnbull was the first Greenbelt citizen without elective office to speak. Although speaking as an individual, he noted that the building of the ICC would cause Greenbelt Homes Incorporated, of which he is a boardmember, and its membership to pay more taxes. He observed that even though the co-op now pays $1.5 million in property taxes and its members pay $4,000,000 in income taxes, it would take 200 other communities like his to pay for the ICC. He believes that the ICC will encourage further expansion of the urban fringes, causing more people to move out of not only Washington, but the inner Maryland suburbs. He advocated using ICC funds to restore the Chesapeake Bay, buy farmland conservation easements, improve mass transit and build schools.

In Favor

Not all speakers were opposed to the ICC. Although the audience was generally respectful, those who did speak in favor of the ICC were greeted with a few quiet boos or hisses. Walter Townsend, president and chief executive officer of the Baltimore-Washington Corridor Chamber of Commerce was first to do so. His Board of Directors unanimously supported the ICC. He noted that the Beltway, when originally planned, was not planned to carry I-95 traffic and that alternative relief was needed. He declared that "We are in love with the automobile," and cited statistics that Americans are driving farther and for longer periods of time. Meanwhile statistics on the use of public transit remain flat. Michael Cosgrove, a CEO for a small business also advocated building the highway along the master

Congratulations to Helen Webb upon receiving her doctor's degree on June 6. The Massachusetts Institute of Technology, jointly with the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution, awarded Helen a Ph.D. in geophysics. Helen, a former News Review staff member, is a 1984 graduate of Eleanor Roosevelt High School. She now works for Atlantic Aerospace in Waltham, Massachusetts.

Proud parents Ralph and June Webb of Ridge Road attended the Friday commencement ceremony. They visited Helen and her husband Chris Murphy for the weekend, catching up on news and seeing some of the sites of Cambridge and Boston.

Martin James Burch, weighing 7 pounds, 8 ounces, was born at the Greenbelt Maternity Center on Monday, June 2. His proud parents are Libby Linstrom and Larry Burch of Cheverly. He joins big brother, Benjamin, aged 5. The proud and happy grandmother is Mary L. Linstrom.

A belated welcome to Greenbelt for Michael Louis Stevens of Westway, who was born April 21. Proud first-time parents are Sabine Hentrick and George M. Stevens.

Anna Swatski, weighing 6 lbs. 4 oz., arrived at Washington Adventist Hospital on May 27. She is now at home with parents Joe Swatski and Mayumo Ono of Crescent Road. Mrs. Kaeko Ono is visiting from Tokyo to enjoy her tiny granddaughter.

The three teams — Greenbelt, Magnolia and Springhill Lake — compete in the first round of questions by City Recreation Supervisor Joe McNeal.

Close and Closer

With Greenbelt and Magnolia still very close and Springhill Lake trailing by much less now, the outcome was to be decided by the third round of the contest, consisting of cards showing various elements of the City of Greenbelt organizational chart. The students were to place the cards in the proper place on the organizational chart to earn ten points for each correct answer and a bonus 25 points for all cards placed correctly. The Springhill Lake Elementary team went first in this round and ended up with a perfect score of 125 points bringing them into the lead with a total score of 230 points. Magnolia, performing well in this round brought their score up to 225 after this round, but unable to surpass Springhill Lake. The judges, Harry James, Jennifer Elkonoh and Julie McHale, were left to see Greenbelt Elementary rise to the challenge and win the contest with a total of 240 points.

All of the students that qualified to participate in the semi-finals and finals of this year's "It's Municipal Government" program were presented with certificates from the City of Greenbelt by Mayor Antoinette Bram and City Manager Michael McLaughlin. Three Brothers Pizza treated them all to a pizza party.

Once again the students proved to be impressive and demonstrated that one day they may have what it takes to become part of the municipal government.

Arthritis Seminar

A free seminar on arthritis and total joint replacement will be held at Laurel Regional Hospital on Tuesday, June 17, at 6 p.m. in the J. Russell Jones Room. Dr. James Kunec, orthopedic surgeon, and Colleen Hordesky, R.N., will present the 1 1/2 hour program which will include a tour of the operating room and explanation of joint replacement surgery. To register, call 301-497-8736 or 410-792-2413.

Greenbelt CARES

Judye Hering held the final tutor's workshop for the 1996-1997 academic year on May 31. Topics for discussion included: student's motivation, the purpose of homework, a guide to reading, book awareness and structure and discipline for students and parents. Five tutors attended.

Judye Hering attended a meeting of the Prince George's Volunteer Coordinator's Association on June 4. Dr. Nancie Parks, director of the Prince George's County Voluntary Action Center, spoke on "Guilt Free Leisure" and "Using Your Volunteers."

Tammy Mountcastle, Wendy Wexler, and CARES Director Carol Leventhal heard a presentation given by Terezia Bohrer, director, Mental Health Authority Division, regarding changes to the delivery of mental health services to persons eligible for Medicaid, Medicare coverage and the "working poor." Changes go into effect on July 1, 1997. Then eligible persons will be enrolled in Managed Care Organizations (MCO), formerly termed Health Maintenance Organizations. Services will be on a fee-for-service basis. The presentation was held at the Bowie Youth and Family Services Bureau for all the county's Youth Services Bureaus (YSB).

The Maryland YSB annual retreat was conducted recently at the new College Park Youth and Family Services Bureau facility. Leventhal was a participant in the association's debate: "Should Maryland YSB Continue to Exist?"

The Systems Reform Initiative (SRI)/Juvenile Justice/Domestic Violence Task Force work group on which Leventhal has been a participant has com-

City Notes

The asphalt path between the Youth Center and the east entrance of the lake park was repaired. Northway between Ridge Road and the ball field was cleaned and the road repaired. Storm drains were cleaned throughout the city. Yellow curbs were painted on Ridge and Crescent Roads, Lakecrest and Lakeside Drives, Westway and Southway.

Flower beds were worked on at the city museum, Mandan Road, Southway, the Post Office, Greenbrook, and Kara Court.

CARES Offers Babysitting Course

Greenbelt CARES will offer the summer session of the babysitting course on Wednesday morning, the first week of summer vacation, June 25, from 10 a.m. - 1 p.m. in the conference room of the Municipal Building, 25 Crescent Road.

The course is free. Each student will receive a packet of materials to bring home. The course is targeted to teach students who have completed grades 5-8 the safety and responsibility issues of babysitting.

Parents and students wanting additional information and enrollment should call Greenbelt CARES Youth and Family Services Bureau, 301-345-6660.

pleted its series of recommendations. Lt. Governor Kathleen Townsend accepted the report with favorable comments. The group has been asked to continue to meet in order to generate ideas about cross training of SRI case managers.

Council Tidbits

by Diane Oberg

At its May 27 regular meeting, the Greenbelt City Council: Received a petition from Leonard Wallace of Realty 1, representing the Roosevelt Center merchants, asking for removal of the pay telephones from the mall area and other city actions to eliminate loitering and other problems at the center. This petition will be considered at the June 16 regular meeting.

Unanimously authorized the Community Relations Advisory Board (CRAB) to explore a "sister city" relationship and "Habitat for Humanity"-type project with Langston Terrace in the District of Columbia. However, Councilmembers Rodney Roberts and Edward Putens voiced some concerns about the use of city funds, equipment and workers outside Greenbelt. City Solicitor Robert Manzi was directed to investigate liability (insurance) and other issues regarding the proposed project. The CRAB had not contacted Langston Terrace until it had council authorization. Whit Hutchison, of the Greenbelt Clergy Association and Mowatt United Methodist Church, said that the idea of the sister city proposal was "to extend a hand and for a hand to be extended in return," so that reciprocal projects, not a handout, were involved.

Adopted a resolution establishing a new Public Safety Advisory Committee.

Saw Mayor Antoinette Bram present a proclamation in honor of the American Legion Auxiliary's Poppy Drive auxiliary to representatives. "Miss Poppy" Jeanette Johnson presented each councilmember with a poppy.

recycling vehicle." His main objection was to the reference to implementing the program changes. He asked Councilmember Judith Davis, who had introduced the resolution for first reading and suspension of the rules to remove the entire "second whereas." Davis agreed to do so, although she was not convinced of the need to do so.

Not Willing

However, other councilmembers were not as willing to yield. Thomas White declared, "Mr. Putens should get with the program." By adopting the budget, he pointed out, council had adopted the change in refuse collection. This requires a commitment, he said, to make it work. "I see this amendment as eroding that commitment," White said.

Councilmember Rodney Roberts also objected. "This is unnecessary nitpicking," he declared. "I am not going to support changing the resolution."

Davis had had enough. She angrily exclaimed, "I can't believe that we are arguing over one, two...twelve words, just to make you look good. It is nitpicking." She said that she would agree to drop the whereas, simply because the city needs the truck. However, she expressed frustration that the councilmembers could not compromise and "get this done."

Mayor Bram tried to convince the council to go along with Putens' proposed change, so that the ordinance could be passed that night. She confirmed with McLaughlin that he would recommend purchasing the truck even if refuse collection remained twice weekly. Shortly after this, Roberts had heard enough, and called the question. The motion to call the question was approved.

Question Called

Then things got interesting as the councilmembers and City Solicitor Robert Manzi sorted out just what the question on the table was. Davis had introduced the original resolution for first reading and suspension of the rules, and her motion had been seconded. Although she had agreed to accept Putens' change, the seconder of the motion had not yet been asked for consent. Thus the original motion was on the table. Since the question had been called, no further changes could be made to get the required fourth vote for passage under suspension of the rules. Putens and Bram stuck to their guns refusing to reference the policy that had just been adopted over their opposition, so the mo-

City Council; Alan Turnbull and Keith Jahoda, former and present presidents of GHI, county councilmember Audrey Scott; the president of the county's Historic Preservation Society; and Greenbelters interested in their city's and county's history. Also present were Dale Lee, an intern with the city, who conducted most of the research to locate and clear the site; Richard Mills from the Public Works Department, who created the case; and City Manager Michael McLaughlin. A planting of flowers appropriate to an early farm, arranged in a box set below the showcase, completed the commemorative display.

Before the informal ceremony and remarks from each member of city council and from county councilmember Scott, Mayor Antoinette Bram asked for a moment of silence to remember one tion to suspend the rules failed. However, Manzi said, the first reading of the ordinance was still valid.

Mayor Bram then asked whether a special meeting to give final passage to the resolution could be held immediately following the current meeting. White objected, particularly since the topic for that meeting was on the current meeting agenda. Manzi found that council's procedures did not permit it. So, the very next night, the councilmembers met at a special meeting and approved purchase of the truck on a 3-2 vote with Putens and Bram opposed.

Greenwood Village Elects New Board

At the Greenwood Village Homeowners Association annual homeowners' meeting held on April 16, the following people were elected as directors/officers for the coming year: Roy W. Dahl, president; Warren C. Wilcox, vice president; Brent Moulton, treasurer; Deborah A. Cary, secretary and Diann Howland, director.

Board meetings are held at Eleanor Roosevelt High School on the third Wednesday of the month. Owners and residents are encouraged to attend.

Office Workers Dress Casually for Charity

On Friday, June 20, thousands of local workers will dress casually as participants in United Cerebral Palsy's Casual Day. In exchange for a suggested minimum donation, workers in participating companies will go to work in their favorite casual clothes. The money raised will help people with cerebral palsy and other disabilities.

Last year, more than 4,000 workers participated and raised close to $30,000 in Prince George's and Montgomery Counties. Participating groups ranged from small offices of three or four employees to the Prince George's County Government where over 1000 government workers participated. Banks, city governments, restaurants, associations, office complexes and a full range of other organizations have participated.

Open Burning Banned

The Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE) has re-instituted an open burning ban in Prince George's and other counties, effective June 1 to August 31. The annual ban, which coincides with the peak ozone season, covers open burning of certain waste materials, such as leaves, brush, and other land clearing debris, by individuals, farmers, and land developers.

Barbecue grilling and recreational campfires are not affected by the ban.

Permits may be obtained from local health officials for pest infested crops and animal disease control, fire-fighting training, forestry management, or elimination of a health hazard. For more information about Maryland's open burning ban, contact MDE's Air and Radiation Management Administration at 410-631-4836 or the local health department.

POLICE BLOTTER

Based on Information Released by the Greenbelt Police Department

Shortly after midnight on Saturday, May 31, police were called to Schrom Hills Park in response to the report of an armed robbery. A couple walking in the park said that they had passed a man talking on the pay phone and that when he hung up, he walked toward them showing a handgun. He then took a wallet from the male victim's pocket, removed money and returned the wallet. At the same time a second suspect stood next to the female victim. Both then fled the scene in the direction of Hanover Parkway.

Immediately afterward a second police officer, patrolling on Hanover Parkway, stopped two persons matching the description of the suspects, who were then positively identified as the robbers by the two victims. Arrested on a charge of armed robbery was Charles Edward Hardin, 21, of the 7000 block of Hanover Parkway. A second man, of no fixed address, was charged with being an accessory. Both, who had open warrants with the county sheriff's department, appeared before a District Court Commissioner and are being held on $30,000 bond.

A 14-year-old girl notified the police that she had been followed by a man in a car as she was walking in the area of Greenbelt Rd. and Walker Dr. He asked her several times to enter the car, but she refused. The man, realizing that he was being observed by another motorist, then drove away. He is described as black, in his thirties, with a medium build and a mustache; he was wearing a red shirt. The vehicle is described as a 4-door white, medium sized passenger car.

Four black youths, 14 to 16 years old, are being sought after one of them shot a landscaper in the leg with a BB gun. The victim chased after the youths in the neighborhood of Springhill Dr. and Springhill Lane, but they eluded him. All were reported as having brown hair. One male, about 16 years old and 5' 9", had a goatee and was wearing a blue football jersey with the number 55 and black sweatpants. Another youth, with his hair in a hairnet, wore a white shirt and black pants; another wore a black and red shirt; and the last wore a black shirt and black pants. All four were estimated to be about 14 years old and 5' 6" in height. The victim was not injured.

An incident that began in New Carrollton drew Greenbelt police to the Seven-Eleven store at Hanover Parkway and Good Luck Rd. after a fight broke out in the parking lot between three assailants and two victims. By the time police arrived, the participants had fled the area but police were soon called to Doctors Hospital where one of the victims had been taken for treatment of minor facial injuries after being beaten with a baseball bat, tire iron and a wooden stick. The two victims, who had gone back for a car, had sought out the three assailants after the earlier incident in New Carrollton.

Several persons were arrested by Greenbelt police for disorderly conduct during the week. One episode involved a Greenbelt man, 24, who refused to stop yelling at the Beltway Plaza security officer and was arrested. On the same evening, Saturday, May 31, two Greenbelt youths and two non-residents were arrested for fighting at Beltway Plaza. On Thursday, June 5 a 15-year-old Greenbelt youth who refused to get out of the roadway where he was blocking traffic in the 9100 block of Springhill Lane was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct after a fight between juveniles had broken up. He was released to his mother pending action by the Juvenile Justice System.

A 20-year-old Greenbelt man, a resident of 29 court of Ridge Rd., and a 13-year-old were arrested after they refused to quiet down after residents near the playground at 38 court of Crescent twice called police to the scene, the second time at 2 a.m. on Thursday.

Two young women, one a 19-year-old resident of Hillside, the other a 16-year-old from Greenbelt, were arrested in two different incidents involving possession and use of marijuana and possession of paraphernalia. The first incident occurred when a suspicious vehicle was stopped on Hillside; the second involved a vehicle parked at the Metro parking lot.

A Greenbelt man was also arrested in the Roosevelt Center late Sunday afternoon on a charge of possession of an open alcoholic beverage. He was holding an open beer. Police were responding to a report of a group of people drinking alcohol in public.

A minor was arrested for possession of cigarettes near Cherrywood Terrace at Breezewood Ct. Police had been called to the scene because of the report of a vehicle tampering.

A burglary was reported at the Burlington Coat Factory early Monday morning, June 2. Clothing and perfume were taken.

Two vandalisms occurred: unknown persons threw a tree branch through a bedroom window of a residence on Breezewood Dr. and a balcony window on Springhill Dr. was shot out with a BB gun.

A black 1986 Pontiac STE600 4-door, with Maryland tags AFN428, was reported stolen from the Beltway Plaza, and a black 1994 Cadillac Eldorado 2-door was reported stolen from the 6500 block of Capitol Dr.

An officer who stopped a vehicle that turned out to be unregistered inventoried it before impounding it. When he discovered a .177 caliber BB gun under the front seat, he arrested the driver, a non-resident, 34, for possession of a deadly weapon.

Vandalisms to, thefts from, and attempted thefts from vehicles were reported from Breezewood Ct., Cherrywood

Free Meals Available To Needy Children

A Summer food program for children has been announced by the Prince George's County Department of Social Services. Free meals will be available for children from households that qualify because of family income and/or size. Children from families eligible for food stamps also qualify for free meals.

Social Services says enrollment in the program is not limited by national origin, sex or handicap.

For further information, call 301-422-5000, or for the hearing impaired, 301-779-2179.

Teacher Workshops At Patuxent Refuge

The Patuxent Research Refuge is offering a number of educator workshops June 19 through June 27 at the National Wildlife Visitor Center, Laurel. The workshops provide interdisciplinary curricula and activities for teachers of grades K-12. Subjects include the Chesapeake Bay, Wonders of Wetlands, Migratory Birds, Schoolyard Habitats, Project WILD, and trip-planning workshops to the National Wildlife Visitor Center. Teachers will receive a variety of engaging hands-on activities they can use to teach environmental concepts.

These workshops are free and will be given at the National Wildlife Visitor Center, located off of Powder Mill Road between the Baltimore/Washington Parkway and Rt. 197. Teachers should dress for both indoor and outdoor activities. Please call 301-497-5763 for workshop dates, times and registration information.
